a. CBO estimated funding provided for Operation Iraqi Freedom in these appropriation acts by allocating funds on the basis of obligations reported by the Department of Defense (DoD).

b. Includes Operation Enduring Freedom (in and around Afghanistan), Operation Noble Eagle (homeland security missions, such as combat air patrols, in the United States), the restructuring of Army and Marine Corps units, classified activities other than those funded by appropriations for the Iraq Freedom Fund, and other operations. For 2005 and 2006, funding for Operation Noble Eagle has been intermingled with regular appropriations for the Department of Defense; funding since that time is not included in this table because it cannot be identified separately.

c. Funding for indigenous security forces, which was appropriated for accounts for diplomatic operations and foreign aid (budget function 150) in 2004, and in accounts for defense (budget function 050) since 2005, is used to train and equip local military and police units in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Defense funding is provided in budget function 050 and supports the Department of Defense, the Intelligence Community Management Account, and some activities of the U.S. Coast Guard

Funds for indigenous security forces in Iraq and Afghanistan were appropriated to the Department of State in 2004 and have been provided to the Department of Defense since 2005.

- a. DoD's comptroller submitted transfer reports to the Congress. For each year, most transfers were of funds appropriated in that year; small amounts were transferred from funds appropriated in prior years.
 - b. Amount estimated from language in the conference report accompanying P.L. 107-248.
 - c. Rescission of funds appropriated in 2003 in P.L. 108-11.
 - d. The Congress appropriated those funds in August 2004 and made them available upon enactment, so the appropriation was recorded as budget authority in 2004.
